Student Creed Essays – Nobody wants 150 Points!!!

Although nobody entered an essay last month, Wolf Pack members are still being encouraged to write essays for the about their thoughts regarding the Student Creed. How do you define the six core statements used at our dojo to help improve yourself and make you a better martial artist and in the long run a better person? There is no minimum or maximum length requirement. The winning essay will be printed in the Howler and will also be put on the message boards of okamikai.com. The winner will also receive 150 points for their pack.

This month's essay should be about Creed #2, but since no essay was submitted last month, you can also submit one about Student Creed #1. Make sure it is submitted no later than Monday June 23.

Sensei Says Thanks

I just wanted to make sure everyone was aware that I am very thankful for all the best wishes, prayers, and support that have been coming my way over the last little while. It definitely makes things a lot easier to know you have people willing to be in your corner when you have to fight. If you are reading this and have no idea what I'm talking about, make sure you visit the 'Sensei Says' report on okamikai.com for June 2 and this will all make sense.

OSU!
